
Stars mark thresholds selected on development data, then evaluated on test. Curves are descriptive. All methods use the same held-out narratives.